Negroes Seeking to Enter Pine Bluff School

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A suit aimed at sweeping away all racial restrictions in the Pine Bluff School District near Pine Bluff was filed in U. S. District Court here yesterday.

The suit was filed specifically on behalf of three Negro students, but attorney George Howard, 41, said it was intended as a class action to apply to all Negroes in the district.

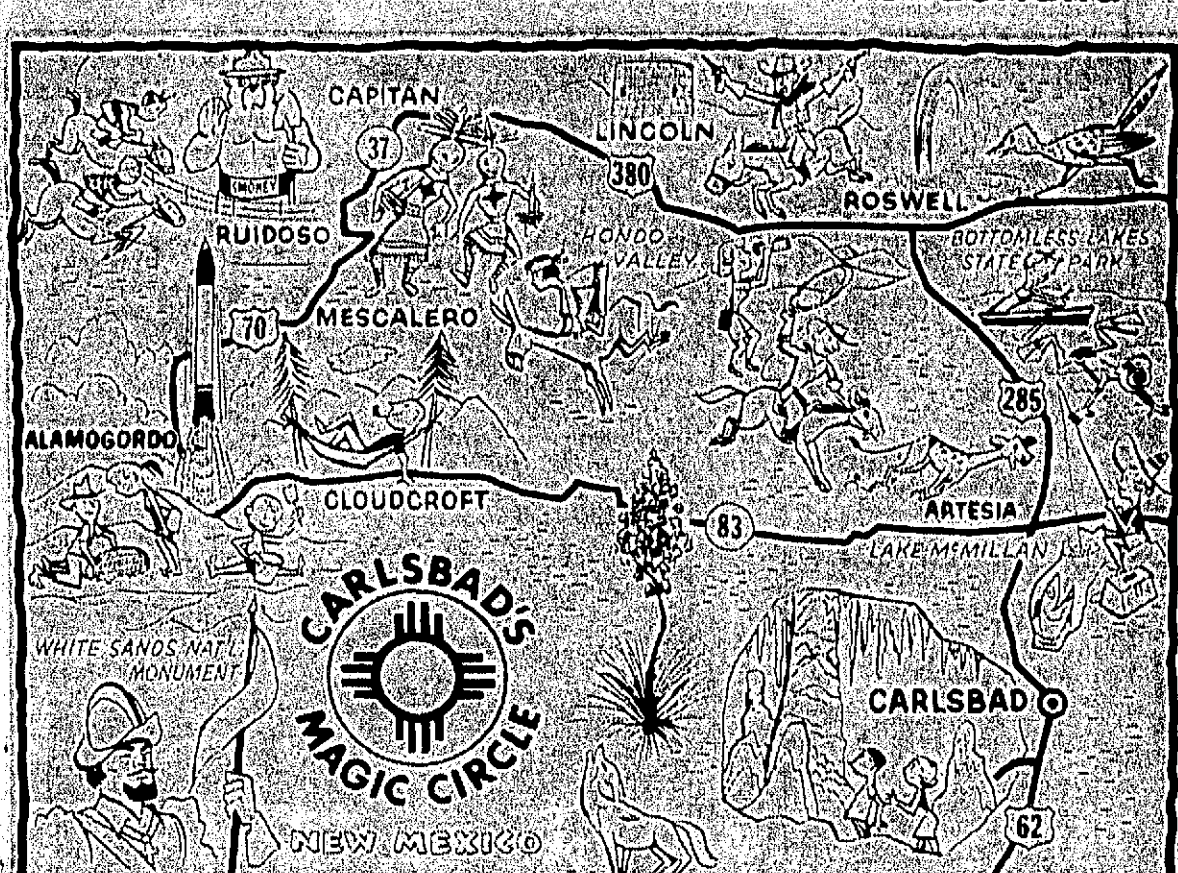

The district's school-age population is about evenly divided between the two races.

Howard, a Negro of Pine Bluff, asked that his suit be advanced on the court's docket for a speedy hearing.

Judge Axel J. Beck, on temporary assignment at Little Rock, was assigned the case. He said he did not know how soon a hearing would be held. Normal legal procedure would rule out any action sooner than three or four weeks.

It will be up to Beck to decide whether to convene a three-judge court, as Howard asked, to rule on the matter. A three judge court is necessary whenever constitutional questions are involved.

Man Slashes Son, 4, to Death in Show

WILMINGTON, Del. (AP) — A woman screamed hysterically as she was taken to a hospital for treatment of shock, told police the story.

An usher snapped on the theater lights, and some 50 patrons turned in their seats. They saw Jose Longoria slashing wildly with a pocket knife at a small boy, his son Steven.

The 4-year-old died quickly of body wounds.

The mother, Violet, 25, sobbing as she was taken to a hospital for treatment of shock, told police the story.

She and her husband were estranged. She and Steven were living with her parents, Longoria, 32, was released from jail only last Thursday after serving time for drunken driving. He asked to meet her Thursday to discuss future custody of the boy.

The child sat enthralled by the movie, one specifically aimed at youngsters. His parents became more and more embroiled in a bitter discussion.

Apparently no one heard them. They were in the back row of the spacious Warner Theatre. Most of the other patrons were down front, or in the balcony.

Suddenly, police said, Longoria dashed the knife.

A patron, David Cole, was the first to reach Longoria when the lights went on. The father offered no resistance.

Police said Longoria had told them he felt the child was under a bad influence.

"I love my son, but I'd rather have him dead than grow up to be a juvenile delinquent," he said.

Longoria, onetime investigator for a private detective agency and lately a laborer, was charged with murder.

Ex-Teacher Is Involved in Call Girl Gang

NEW YORK (AP) — Officers used a passkey to open the door of a swanky, $350 a month East Side apartment today and were treated to some interesting sights.

For one thing, there was a plush white bar in the living room. For another, there were three telephones—a red one, a white one and a blue one. But that wasn't all.

In one bedroom, the officers said, three attractive women were with an out-of-town man. Among the women was blonde Virginia McManis, 25, who lost her job as a substitute teacher in Brooklyn despite her acquittal on a prostitution charge last October. Police said she was nude.

In a second bedroom, police said, a fourth woman was with another out-of-town visitor.

The apartment, phones of which had been tapped since Wednesday, was dubbed as the headquarters of a 20-woman call girl ring which supplied male entertainment at rates running from $30 to $100 a night.

Also in the apartment, police said, was Beatrice Garfield, 29, who had been arrested with Miss McManis during a vice raid on another apartment in October and later was convicted as a madam and given a 60-day jail term.

Two other girls there, the officer said, were Barbara Jackson, 20, a platinum blonde; and Gayle Siney, 23, a regular blonde.

The two men were not identified but were described as businessmen, one from Texas and the other from upstate New York.

Police said the apartment had been rented by Miss Garfield, and that the women were averaging up to $400 a night each in earnings. All were charged with loitering for the purposes of prostitution.

Right Body Finally Sent to Couple

GAFNEY, S.C. (AP) — Two days ago, a shocked mother and father found the body of a stranger in a basket sent them by the U. S. Navy in the belief it was their son.

Today, the error rectified. Mr. and Mrs. J. Brunson Phillips are burying their son Jerry Robert Driskill, 23, one of three sailors killed Monday in a highway accident at Pensacola, Fla. He will be accorded military honors.

Driskill's body was intercepted Thursday in a railroad baggage room in Chicago. It was apparently en route to the parents of Lawrence H. Geis, 22, Milwaukee, whose body the Phillips had received by error. Geis was killed in the same accident.

Navy Secretary Thomas Gates ordered a Navy plane to fly the bodies to the right destinations.

The third victim was Donald L. Tullis, Racine, Wis.

Miss Hepburn Won't Walk for 3 Weeks

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — X-rays show that actress Audrey Hepburn, injured when thrown from a horse in Mexico, suffered several fractured vertebrae and will not be able to walk for about three weeks.

"I feel fine — just fine," Miss Hepburn said as she was taken back to her Beverly Hills home Thursday.

She was on location for a movie in Mexico when her back was injured. She was flown here in an ambulance plane.

Married a Year, Awarded $129,000

REDWOOD CITY, Calif. (AP) — A settlement of $129,000 each was awarded Mrs. Lois Allen Firestone in her divorce Thursday from the son of the president of the Firestone Tire & Rubber Co. of California.

The 23-year-old bride of a year charged Kimball Firestone with cruelty. The couple married in 1957 when both were Stanford students. They separated last July.

Firestone is a son of L. R. Firestone of Beverly Hills, Calif. The settlement also included a $29,000 home near Woodside, Calif. and stock in four companies.

Contract Awarded for NLR Hospital

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Veterans Administration yesterday notified Rep. Dale Alford (D-Ark.) it has awarded a contract for installation of air conditioning in the physical, medical and rehabilitation building of the North Little Rock Veterans Hospital.

The contract, the agency said, went to Mechanical Contractors Inc. of North Little Rock, which submitted the low bid of $47,580.

Powerful Titan Missile Launched Successfully

By JACK KING
CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla., (AP) — The United States has launched its second generation missile program with the debut of the powerful Titan.

The new war rocket, shipped like a huge bullet, performed smoothly on a 220-mile limited range flight Friday after failing to fly on two previous attempts. The Air Force said the launching was highly successful.

The bluntnose of the intercontinental range ballistic missile signaled the start of an accelerated drive to produce advanced missiles superior to the present weapons in the U.S. arsenal.

Titan was developed as a follow-on series to the present Atlas which already has logged a 4½ ton orbiting satellite and one triumph over intercontinental range. Some estimates place the Titan range capability at 6,000 miles.

Still to come is the solid fuel Minuteman ICBM and various other so-called sophisticated missiles which the experts say will help close the gap with the Soviets in the space race.

The Titan's backblast shattered several remote controlled tracking cameras near the launching pad. The gold-tinted rocket weighs 110 tons. The range was short and the mission basic on this first test flight. As soon as the missile left the launch, 90 per cent of the test objectives were accomplished it was learned.

New Crisis for Premier of Iraq

BEIRUTE, Lebanon (AP) — Iraqi Premier Abdul Karim Kassim, wooed by both Communists and Arab nationalists, apparently is facing a new political crisis with the reported resignations of six Cabinet ministers.

Informants arriving from Baghdad said one of the six who quit was Foreign Minister Abdul Jabbar Jomard. The others were Faid Rikabi, minister of state; Baba Ali, communications; Col. Nagy Talib, social affairs; Salah Mahmud, health and Seddik Sen-shal, national guidance.

The significance of the resignations was not immediately clear. Kassim has been under pressure from supporters of the United Arab Republic's President Nasser to strengthen ties with the U.A.R. and from Communists to lean toward Moscow.

Detective Was Hired to Kill Boss' Wife

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A tall, middle-aged private secretary allegedly tried to hire a "hood" to kill her boss' wife. But the "hood" was a detective and this led to the secretary's arrest.

Miss Pauline Weiss, 48, was arrested Thursday as she left her apartment to go to work.

The night before, police said, she sat in a car with a man, in whom she had confided, and detective Peter Noga. She nervously handed Noga $75 as a down payment, police said.

Noga said he was promised another $250 after the murder.

Inspector John J. Kelly said Miss Weiss, during a day of questioning, made a statement admitting the plot to kill 53-year-old Mel Griffin of Devon.

Ray Hubbsa Willard Griffin, 58, manager of L. B. & Co. Inc., a publishing firm, Miss Weiss had worked to him three years.

Griffin said he was completely surprised by his secretary's arrest and the charges against her.

He said he had been happily married 33 years. Mrs. Griffin was not available for comment.

Police would not say what might have motivated Miss Weiss.

She was charged with solicitation to commit murder and attempt to commit murder.

Time and Mistakes Prove That Experience Is Best Teacher

By MARY ANITA LASETER
"Experience is the best teacher" has been echoed on many occasions and times and mistakes have proved the truth of that adage.

For that reason, a class in school which can provide practical experience and logical application of subject matter is valuable.

A school, paper, especially on the high school level, is sometimes looked upon with disgust, distaste or amusement. But just try your hand at working on such a publication and you'll be like a person who takes piano lessons. Even if you never learn to play, your admiration and appreciation for those who can is greatly increased.

The most recent edition of the "Hope Hi-Lights" is an excellent example of creative talent in action. The 31 staff members and their advisor, Mrs. Mary Nell Turner, have turned out a paper that is not only newsworthy but also entertaining. Though it is especially aimed at pleasing the high school student, any reader would find something within its pages that is interesting.

Eighteen news stories in the January 30 issue of the Hi-Lights cover such subjects as classes, special school activities, assembly speakers, PTA meetings, coming events, new students enrolled and sports. If you think that is a wide range of topics, you should see the entire paper.

Feature stories numbered 18 and included a letter from a student in Singapore, a report on our newest state, Alaska, from someone who had been there, a general feature by a boy, a general feature by a girl, articles on the March of Dimes, the medical profession as an occupation, St. Valentine's Day, and the historical background of a teacher's home.

In addition, there were an editorial column, a birthday list for February, a basketball schedule, some good pictures and an original cartoon strip called "Bub in Cat." The entire publication illustrated the united team work of a well guided staff.

No wonder the names of staff members are seen in a "flag" box on the editorial page. May that "flag" continue to wave proudly in the "Hi-Lights." This year, its "stars" include the co-editors, Richard Rothwell and Mary Margaret Daniels; co-business managers, Dennis Paddle and Sue Moore; circulation manager, Robert Story and photographer, Dale Wylie.

Legally Dry Oklahoma Is Very Wet

By JIM MONROE
OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — "This could cause a revolution," said a would-be whisky drinker.

"Why, my bootlegger said he didn't have any vodka and didn't even know when he'd get some, said a social drinker.

"There ought to be a law against this," said a clubman.

For 50 years folks in constitutionally dry Oklahoma haven't been bothered by the law. But suddenly it is being enforced.

Oklahomans are talking more about whisky and probably are drinking less than ever before. And they are paying more if they do drink.

The reform administration of 31-year-old Gov. J. Howard Edmondson is trying to dry up the state and bring about a law.

"We want to give the people a clear-cut choice between prohibition and repeal," Edmondson said.

Whisky bills and a referendum proposal are before the Legislature.

Joe Cannon, 33, an attorney from Muskogee, is directing the crackdown on bootleggers as public safety commissioner heading the Highway Patrol. He has staged periodic roadblocks across the state, trying to stop the flow of illegal liquor from Missouri, Kansas, Texas, and Arkansas.

In the past month whisky has gone up $1 to $1.50 a pint, if you can find it.

"I just can't serve my people," a bootlegger explained. "But one thing about it, they're not fussy anymore. I've had people beg me for Scotch that never drank Scotch in their life. It was all I had."

Bourbon, the biggest seller, now goes for $5.50 a pint in Oklahoma City.

Protests Fail, Senate Passes Airport Bill

By JOHN CHADWICK
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has passed a 405-million-dollar airport construction bill despite protests from some Republicans that it would punch a hole in President Eisenhower's budget and invite a veto.

The President, who vetoed a similar bill last year after Congress adjourned, had promised only 200 million dollars over the next four years for airport construction.

The measure passed Friday night by a 63-22 vote now goes to the House. No House hearings have been held on companion legislation.

The bill would extend the federal aid airport program for four years beyond June 30 and increase the annual federal allotments from $3.3 million dollars to $100 million.

In addition, it includes a special discretionary fund of 65 million dollars that Sen. A. S. Mike Monroney (D-Okl.) called sponsor of the bill. It was designed to speed the modernization of city airports to handle jet airplanes.

Under the program, the federal grants have to be matched dollar for dollar by the states.

All Republican efforts to cut the bill were defeated, but the Democrats made one concession in an effort to make the legislation more palatable to the administration.

The bill originally called for expenditures of $65 million dollars over five years. But Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Texas) won unanimous agreement to "top off one year and 100 million."

It was the second Senate bill on the President's budget and recommendations. Only the night before the Senate passed a $2,070,000,000 omnibus housing bill exceeding Eisenhower's requests by more than a billion dollars.

On the passage of the airport bill, 12 Republicans voted for the bill, five Democrats and 11 Republicans voted against it. The 63-22 tally was more than the two-thirds majority necessary to override a veto.

Humphrey Only Peddler, Says Soviet Premier

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev says he considers his recent Moscow guest U.S. Sen. Hubert Humphrey (D-Minn.) a peddler of fairy tales.

He called Humphrey a fabricator.

Khrushchev, speaking to the 21st Soviet Communist Party congress Thursday, said the Yugoslav Communist Party accused of deviating from the Moscow line was trying to drum up stories about differences between Red China and the Kremlin. He said the Yugoslavs, to substantiate these stories, used the Minnesota Democrat as a "substantial witness."

"You will remember that this senator recently visited the Soviet Union and I had a talk with him," Khrushchev said. "In the expectation of a noisy sensation, Humphrey, in his speeches and articles 'told fairy tales' — these bags full of them — such as the story that he had brought a special message from the Soviet government to President Eisenhower — of course no such message existed at all — and that I had confided two important secrets to him."

"Indeed, I could find a better partner to share secrets with than Mr. Humphrey."

He said Humphrey was wild imagination man who began making up his inventions about the relations between the Soviet Union and the Chinese People's Republic. In this he even exceeded the well-known compiler of fabrications, Baron Munchausen.

"And now the Yugoslav revisionists have taken this fabricator upon themselves as a witness. The very idea that I could have been in any way confidential with a man who himself boasts of his 20-year struggle against communism can only serve to raise a laugh."

Humphrey had an eight-hour interview with Khrushchev in November. On his return to the United States he talked with President Eisenhower.

Red Premier Gives Press Rare Credit

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev gave the Western press rare credit in his closing speech to the 21st Communist party congress.

New Drug Helpful to Diabetics

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—A new drug helpful to diabetics was announced at Baylor University College of Medicine here Thursday.
Researchers said the drug, called DBI, lowers sugar levels in the blood without harmful reactions on vital organs. The drug also was found to act independently of insulin and the pancreas, the organ which produces insulin. It is taken in tablet form.
"DBI will not take the place of insulin," said Dr. Harold L. Dobson of the Baylor school. "But it will relieve some of the difficulties of insulin and will stabilize a certain number of diabetics. I personally believe it is a valuable addition to our therapeutic armament."

ing adjourned a regular order until the meeting in March.

Bobcats Tough Defensively, Defeat Camden

The Hope Bobcats avenged an early defeat last night by soundly licking the Camden Panthers 46 to 30. The Hope Juniors also won. David Watkins was the top scorer for the Bobcats, tossing in 21 points. Webber was high for Camden with 16 points.

The Bobcats played a fine defensive game and Bill Hair was the top man on the backboards taking rebounds time and again.

Tonight the Hope teams journey to Fairview for another crucial district contest.

Spring Hill Girls Top Lewisville

Lewisville and Spring Hill split two games last night with the Spring Hill girls winning 59 to 55 in a double overtime.

Galloway tossed in 33 points for the winner and Collins made 21. For Lewisville Redmore looped 31 and May 18.

Spring Hill Junior boys lost 29 to 23 with Roy and Ronny Garner tossing in 7 and 6 points respectively. Nash and McKemie made 12 each for Lewisville.

Due to illness of Lewisville's boys the senior boys game was postponed.

OUTDOORS with John Alden Knight

In case you haven't done so, it is quite an experience to go to one of the target ranges and watch the boys chomping up the shooting eye while "targeting in" their rifles in preparation for the big game season. The accuracy which some of these fellows display is nothing short of amazing to one who is not familiar with modern sporting arms.

We stood and watched one young fellow with a Model 70 Winchester 243 calibre, equipped with a scope sight. Shooting from the prone position, he methodically squeezed off five rounds at the 200 yard target. This done, he walked to the bench and peered through the spotting scope. Without comment, he checked his rifle to make sure it was not loaded, slipped it into a leather case, went to his car and drove away.

We walked over to the spotting scope and looked at the target. There in a fine circle was this group of five shots, not one of them cutting the edge. Makes you wonder about what chance a deer has against a man who carries one of these accurate rifles and who knows how to use it.

While we talked about that one-inch group, a girl, possibly 27 year old, came in from the six hundred yard target where she had set up a new square. She, too, was shooting a Model 70, 243. Again from prone position, this young lady proceeded to place a group of five shots within the ten inch circle at 600 yards.

While we talked about this gal and her long shooting gun, a car drove in and from it climbed a man bearing a thirty-two special carbine. He took a box of ammunition out of his pocket and then walked to the 100 yard target and put up a fresh square.

He came back to the bench and jammed his little carbine with all the shells it would hold. Firing off hand and using no rest he emptied his rifle at the target. The entire target is about 14 inches square. One of his shots had hit the lower right hand corner. Where the rest went, nobody knows.

The man glanced through the spotting scope, saw the hole in the lower corner and nodded with satisfaction. "Well," he remarked to nobody in particular "guess that'll kill a deer." He picked up his gun and ammunition, climbed into his car and drove away. You can depend on it, if that fellow is an active deer hunter the probabilities are that he will have missed or crippled at least five bucks during the course of a single season.

A friend of mine has a position with one of our sporting goods stores. This man knows guns inside and out. Some of the things he encounters when he meets one of a year make you wonder why more people aren't killed every time the big game season comes around.

For example, consider the fellow who tries to fly before he has learned to walk. One of them will buy a new rifle — a good, well made piece of equipment that costs a pretty penny. He tries it out with factory ammunition, but that won't do. No, he must have a "hot" load. So he decides to load his own.

He buys a loading outfit, browses through the instruction manual and goes to work. Maybe he does not have or cannot get, at the moment, the sort of powder the factory recommends, so he uses burning. The first shot with that high speed powder reduces the gun to scrap. If he escapes with minor injuries (and most of them do) he will inevitably blame the gun and its maker.

Or consider the man who buys one of the most powerful guns and then finds himself in trouble. One fellow picked up a 300 magnum equipped with a scope sight. Without consulting anybody, he went to the target range to try it out. It so happened that the scope was set a little too far back for his particular needs.

When he tested the gun, he made two serious mistakes. First, he held the gun too loosely and, second, he placed his eye too close to the scope. Now a 300 magnum has a kick like a mule. The fellow found himself flat on the seat of his pants with a seven stitch gash over his right eye.

In due course, he reported to my friend, the gun salesman. He turned in his magnum for re-sale and declared that he was through hunting. Investigation showed that he was 100% gun shy. My friend, after much persuasion, managed to get the fellow out to the target range. When coaxed into firing a little 22 rifle, he flinched at the shot, scared to death.

Actually, recoil from any gun is a definite phobia with him, something over which he has no control. After painstaking schooling the man now shoots a 20 gauge shotgun and a 243 deer rifle with an extra heavy barrel, to reduce recoil.

And so it goes, almost startling across the board. One of the outstanding common characteristics of people is inherent laziness. Thus, most of them simply refuse to practice or to find out what their guns will do or how to use them. The results, year after year, are missed birds, missed deer and the horrible accounts that you read in the newspaper.

And, unfortunately, so long as people are people, that is the way things will continue to be.

Difference in Khrushchev and Stalin

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — The 21st Communist party congress in Moscow, dominated by Premier Khrushchev, showed once again the difference between him and Stalin. It was the difference between an undertaker and a salesman.

Stalin was a constant reminder of death. Khrushchev puts on the jolly "Let's get together, fellows" act. He just as tough as Stalin, but smother.

Stalin's idea of getting rid of anyone he didn't like was to blow his head off. Khrushchev just shoves them into oblivion but lets them live. He has a growing list: Molotov, Malekov, Bulganin, and others.

Khrushchev let the congress delegates get off steam by publicly scoring the old time Bolsheviks he pushed aside. But there's no sign he intends them any physical annihilation. This would seem a lovely good indication of his confidence in himself and his own sense of power.

Reports from Moscow disclosed nothing sensational at the congress which ended Thursday. Perhaps it was tougher for being fairly placid.

Khrushchev didn't really budge an inch toward the West, although near the end of the congress he called—as he has before—for an end to the cold war. In a burst of self-confident generosity he told the West it could consider itself "forthwith."

He did boast of Soviet missile production, letting Americans and everyone else guess whether he was talking true or making propaganda. And he promised, as he had before, a better life for the Soviet masses.

There's no reason to think he won't or can't make good on his promises. People who have tried to undersell him before have found themselves wrong.

A psychologist would probably say Khrushchev's lot smarter at getting work out of the Russians than Stalin.

Stalin got work and compliance by holding aloft a sword of terror. Khrushchev tries to give the Russians a sense of participation in the creation of their own future by whipping up enthusiasm for his programs.

The routine nature of the 21st congress was in great contrast with the sensations of the one in 1956 when Khrushchev shocked the whole communist world—not to mention the rest of the world—by downgrading Stalin.

It's a good guess he did that at that time in an effort to erase from everyone's mind, by demonstrating the reasonableness of the new Kremlin men, the idea that Soviet leadership was a symbol of barbarism.

If this is a correct assumption, Khrushchev now apparently feels the idea worked. He has no reluctance to pay some tribute to Stalin for laying the foundations of present Soviet successes.

Khrushchev stirred up the West with his demand that the allies leave their troops out of Berlin and their troops out of Cuba. It was a good starting point to create disension among the Allies who may wind up having different ideas on how he should be answered.

He may have given the appearance of willingness to make concessions about West Berlin. It's an optical illusion so far. For example: he talked of possible unification of East and West Germany.

big bunches of sparkling gypsum geodes, and dozens of shagreened geodes. From the floor rise 70-foot columns, like huge 70-foot columns growing straight up. The thousands of weird, dreamlike objects have a dwarfing effect on man.

From Arizala the elevators take West State 63 and across a greasy road desert that smells hot and pungent. Dust devils, dance and swirl across the shimmering landscape. But within a few miles the black top road starts climbing. The Ocotilla cactus and Yucca change to pines and cedar trees, then to tall pine-covered mountains with pockets of green and white quaking aspen trees glittering in the sunlight. This is New Mexico's sky-country vacation land.

At 9,000 feet up in the Sacramento Mountains is Cloudcroft. Here you can ride horseback, golf, hike, hunt during game season or just relax. A few miles beyond is the romantic old Spanish town, La Luz, where tradition says Anthony Adverse is buried.

Atomic Land

Today Alamogordo (meaning "Big Cottonwood Tree") is a synonym for the atomic bomb. Here in 1945, the Atomic Age had its genesis. It stood as wide-eyed as the nearby visiting Boy Scout troop when I saw the tower from which the first experimental rockets were launched in the 1940s. From time to time, test missiles still flash through the New Mexico sky.

It's only 23 miles on to White Sands National Monument from Alamogordo. This is an unbelievable, mysterious land of dappled, constantly shifts the 170,000 acres of snowy gypsum desert. Even the few plants and animals are powdery pastels: light gray or frosty white.

Beautiful in light and shadow, awe-inspiring at sunset, every sand ripple of the dunes catches the red and yellow colors while the swales and hollows become pools of pink, purple and mauve. Your camera will never catch the same picture twice.

To the youngsters, the most fun was burying our soft, round, watermelons in the sand to cool, while they ran and played barometer and slid down the sparkling dunes. Underground rivers make these dunes a natural refrigerator.

Peaceful Apaches

On returning to Alamogordo, the Magic Circle goes north U.S.

Chapter XXIV

They were sitting in Johnny Hock's office, killing time until 11 o'clock. When the word was given, Dave Benedict would be buried.

Lying back in his chair, Johnny Hock considered the office ceiling soberly.

"You realize of course, my friend, that this could be just the start of things — a lot of things. The combine isn't going to take this lying down. They can't afford to. Maybe you got some things more up your sleeve."

Yeager shook his head. "I'm just reaching from day to day, playing my hand, you might say. One card at a time. I've made my move. Next move, I think, is to win."

"One thing, Johnny Hock, said, "you won't have Klint Hyatt working with you. The combine against you, assisted with Judge Carmody last night and he tells me Hyatt's had a change of heart, that from here on out he's going to run his sherriff's office as it should be, strictly impartial, playing no favorites."

"I'll wait and hope on that," Yeager said skeptically.

The cemetery was a short quarter mile from town, out along the Garandville road, and the funeral cortege was already pacing slowly toward it when Gil Yeager and Johnny Hock emerged.

Johnny Hock stepped out of the street, Johnny Hock held the door open and ready for the occasion and he and Yeager climbed into the Fig. Johnny, taking the reins, rolling up street to where the Garandville road cut across from town just beyond the courthouse. They had a chance to look over several riders grouped before the Golden Horn.

"Combine men," Johnny Hock murmured. "Watch yourself, Gil. Don't be suckered into any play where they can call the turns. Were I you, I'd get out of town after the funeral."

"Not me," Yeager said briefly. "I quit running some time ago. It was a quite respectable gain. I'm here in the rural, little cemetery. Old timers from about 1880 on, on hand, men like Patch Kelly and Barney Flood and Jake Dooling, who had known Dave Benedict in the early, good years. Then there was Judge Carmody and his wife, who had ridden out in a spring wagon with Bill and Maggie Spelle from the Summit House Hotel. Now, as the judge stood at the head of the grave and spoke a few quiet, deep rolling words of eulogy, Mrs. Carmody and Maggie Spelle took Laurie Benedict between them, ready to comfort her if need be. It was soon done with. This was a land of simplicity in such things.

The various rigs rolled back to town. Johnny Hock let Gil Yeager get in front of Patch Kelly's store and again voiced his warning.

"Now that's over with, Gil. I still think you'd be wise if you drift out of town."

Westerns Next Week Number 21 on TV

By CHARLES MERCER
NEW YORK (AP)—The coming week there are 21 westerns visible on the three major television networks.

Their popularity can be judged by the fact that the latest Nielsen audience ratings listed the westerns among the top 10 most widely viewed programs. Other regular favorites also are visible, of course.

And here are some that are worthy of reminder:
On Sunday at 1 p.m. NBC presents another in the "Wisdom" series, a conversation with Edith Hamilton, an authority on Greek and Roman civilization. At the same hour CBS repeats "The Face of Red China," a filmed report on life inside China today.

"Ask Washington," an interesting news question and answer program, with David Brinkley, Richard Harkness and Martin Agronsky, is on NBC at 3:30.
Ben Hecht's first full-hour teleplay, "The Third Commandment," will be seen on NBC at 4:45. The story of a Hollywood gag writer who becomes a false evangelist and faith healer. This is the first of a proposed series of modern dramas, each based on one of the Ten Commandments.

In a NBC news special at 5:30 spokesmen of various groups will discuss Chet Huntley's proposal of last Sunday that the National Assn. for the Advancement of Color People should withdraw from the integration scene.

Wednesday at 7 "The Bell Telephone Hour" on NBC presents an all-American program of music and ballet, starring Duke Ellington, Ella Fitzgerald, Risa Stevens, Grant Tinker, Martha Wright and the New York City Ballet.

At 8:30 on Tuesday via NBC Bob Hope offers a variety show with Maureen O'Hara, Dan Thomas and Carol Haney.

Wednesday at 7 a special program portraying Lincoln as his contemporaries knew him will be seen on NBC. At 8 on NBC there will be a repeat of the Fred Astaire show of several weeks ago. Both critics and public joined in cheering this one.

At the same hour on CBS "U.S. Steel Hour" presents Jean Pierre Aumont and Gloria Vanderbilt in an adaptation of Leo Tolstoy's "Family Happiness."

On Thursday at 8:30 over CBS "Playhouse 90" offers a suspense drama, "The Second Man," starring James Mason, Margaret Leighton, Kenneth Haigh, Hugh Griffith and Diana Wynyard. The story concerns a British murder trial and a young woman lawyer who risks her reputation and that of the man she loves in an effort to find a killer.

News Briefs

BALTIMORE (AP)—A $5 million dollar U.S. battleship that never went to war is headed for the scrap heap.

The Kentucky will be towed into Baltimore today. She is a victim of the times and mishaps. They couldn't finish her in time for World War II. It ended too soon. So work on her stopped. She's being sold by the Navy to the Boston Metals Co. for $1,170,000.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—Virgil T. Blossom, former superintendent of schools at Little Rock, Ark., has been interviewed for the job as school superintendent in the suburbs here.

H. M. Tomerlin, president of trustees for the Northeast Independent School District, said he did not expect the board to reach a final decision on a superintendent before April 1.

DETROIT (AP)—Gilbert Colts, 32, went to a Detroit Hospital and told an attendant he had been ordered to pick up a cigarette machine.

He told the skeptical attendant to "check with the company if you don't believe me." The attendant did.

Colts was sentenced to 30 days for attempting to obtain property under false pretenses.

MEADVILLE, Pa. (AP)—Death has claimed a second former member of the "Our Gang" movie comedy cast within the past three weeks.

Don Law, 38, who played "Fats" in some 20 of the old-time child comedy films, died here Thursday after a brief illness.

Paul (Alfalfa) Switzer, 39, was shot to death Jan. 21 in Van Nuys, Calif., in a fight over $50.

fundamental belief in God

Dreamed of by millions, searched for by many, discovered by a few.

Established, built, maintained, and governed by a Fundamental Belief in God. That is America — these United States. That is our home... that is you and me. How else could the heritage we hold come into being? A System? ... Not so! But a dedicated, consecrated way of life as set forth in the Sermon on the Mount. Through the grief and misery suffered at Valley Forge, shines the same light which has illuminated men's minds since time began.

That same light — the Word of God — is now lighting and showing the way — the way of truth — to us as a nation and as individuals.

Just so long as each of us, each day, rededicate our lives to a Fundamental Belief in God —

shall we endure.
